

Christina Sorenson, O.D., F.A.A.O. Voted 2006 Optometrist of the Year

Dr. Christina Sorenson was named Arizona Optometric Association's 2006 Optometrist of the Year. This award is presented for services to the profession, community and significant contributions made to vision welfare.

Dr. Sorenson serves as Department Supervisor of Optometry at the Mayo Clinic, Scottsdale and also is the Director of the Low Vision Clinic at the Carl Hayden Veterans Administration Medical Center in Phoenix.

She is currently a Member of the Arizona State Board of Optometry, appointed to her second four-year term by Governor Janet Napolitano.

In 2004, Dr. Sorenson was elected to the Board of Directors of the American Regulatory Boards of Optometry (ARBO) and in the following year was elected Secretary Treasurer of that organization. She served as Treasurer of the charitable arm of the AzOA, the Arizona Optometric Charitable Foundation.

A graduate of Kansas University with a B.S. degree, Dr. Sorenson received her Doctor of Optometry from the University of Missouri-St. Louis. She has been appointed as an adjunct professor to the Southern California College of Optometry and is a member of the American Academy of Optometry where she serves on the Admissions Committee. She is an Advanced Clinical Competence Team Member of the American Optometric Association (AOA) and has been published over twenty-five times in major ophthalmic publications and journals.
